The instructions are easy and many use basic craft items we have at home most of the time. If you can't choose between her books, this is a good selection. I have a couple of her other books and there are some of the same crafts. This gives a good sampling of different things.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Rainy Day Book of things to make and do.By Kelley RingLife saver with the weather we have had this spring 2014. Nothing but rain. I love using my Discover points.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Fun bookBy H.R.My 9 year old daughter got lots of inspiration for this book. Nice variety of crafts. Good for pulling out even when it isn't raining!

Full of inspiring rainy-day activities, here you'll find an exciting range of creative alternatives to endless hours in front of the computer or TV screen. All the classic crafting techniques are covered, from printing to jewellery-making, sewing, decoupage, modelling, stencilling and much more along the way. Every project can be completed using readily available materials, so just follow the step-by-step instructions. The Rainy Day Book of Things to Make and Do features more than 56 fun and inspiring projects designed especially to appeal to boys and girls aged between 3 and 10 years. Each section is crammed full of colourful ideas for cool crafting activities, including Top Toys, Great Gifts, Dazzling Decorations, Funky Fashions and other activities that are sure to keep kids entertained on rainy days.

About the Author Catherine Woram studied fashion at St. Martins School of Art in London, followed by a Masters in fashion at the Royal College of Art. She has written on shopping and interiors for many publications, including the Telegraph magazine, Ideal Home, BBC Good Homes and Prima. Catherine is the author of Wedding Dress Style and has contributed to several other books, including The Hamlyn Book of Soft Furnishings, The St. James Encyclopaedia of Fashion and The Best of Handmade. Catherine lives in London with her husband and two daughters, Jessica and Anna, both of whom share her passion for crafts. Since childhood, Clare Youngs has loved making beautiful handcrafted objects. She studied graphic design and went on to work in packaging for a number of high-street stores, including Marks and Spencer and House of Fraser. Clare has since worked in illustration and book jacket design before deciding to turn her attentions to craft full-time.
